Dear Reta,

Dear Reeta,

Kinda Loofi connected me with you regarding a Canadian company that does research that may be of interest to you. Would it be okay with you if I pass along your contact information to this company - the principals are very interested in your work and would like to be more efficient than my getting in the middle of any useful information exchange.

There is a bit more about their company: <http://www.plandansimple.com/tech-practice-and-technologies>

Please let me know if this is okay with you!

Thank you,

Lydia

Hi Jim

Sorry to be so long in getting back to you.

Last week I worked with a group of clean-tech companies that came down from Canada to participate in the TechConnect show in Boston. My role was to introduce these companies to investors, regulators, opinion leaders, experts, potential partners, and increase their market knowledge for their products. The companies ranged from very early stage to in production.

One of the companies is called ZeroWaste. They have a lot of technology that is in use in Europe where waste cannot be wet. The technology uses coagulation and liquefaction techniques. It is proven technology that is already installed in many locations.

The head of the company, Bruce Coxhead, can do a much better job describing his technology that I can as I am not in sales! But I do know that he wants to connect with a large facility like yours to better understand the market for his products in this region. Certainly, the US is a major market for any Canadian company.

So I am wondering if you be amenable to my sharing your contact information with Mr. Coxhead and having a phone conversation with him at some point. I could call you and ask a lot of questions but it does strike me that putting the two of you directly in touch is probably more efficient.

Please advise if this would be ok with you. Many, many thanks. My cell number is 538-365-5589 if you want to call me for any reason.

David,

Trust all is well with you. I am sure not the only Patriots fan who simply cannot bear even the thought of no football in the fall.

As you may recall I was the CEO of National Grid and subsequently headed the regulatory authority for fire electric grid in North America. I am retired now but still serve on the State Street Board.

A former Grid Executive, Lydia Pastuszek, (email address attached) is looking to make contact with the person at the stadium responsible for facilities. She is assisting a Canadian clean tech company who has a series of compaction, liquefaction, recycling and other technologies to handle trash/waste from large facilities like stadiums.

I was hoping you would forward this email to the appropriate person at the stadium.

If you could contact them via email I would appreciate it.

Thanks,

Rick

Hi Alex,

I've been coaching 14 Canadian startup companies for the Canada Investment Program at TechConnect World Expo on Wednesday afternoon, 6/15. I thought you might find some of these cleantech companies interesting. You can read through the company profiles at www.techconnectworldexpo.com/techconnect/ or, for your convenience, here's a quick overview:

- Two grid-scale energy storage companies: Ionutec Energy uses lithium batteries and Hydrostor has an affordable CAES technology it's testing with Toronto Power this year.
- Two early stage high tech plays: Sawtooth Energy is developing a new, low-cost and robust electrochromic film and Algaefuel is working on a platform technology called electroporation, targeting the pasteurization market.
- Two biofuels startups: Algaefuel has a ceramic filter that produces better biodiesel with pure glycolita by-products at a lower cost while Algaefuel has an improved system growing algae.
- Speaking of carbon capture, Algaefuel injects CO2 into cast concrete blocks in order to make them stronger while sequestering more CO2 and using less cement to boot.
- Three companies deal with radically different aspects of waste: Algaefuel has a product line that detects and helps trouble-shoot industrial odor pollution, a surprisingly big market; Algaefuel repurposes obsolete telecom equipment for major corporations and is already in the black less than a year after launch; and Zero Waste Energy Systems leverages existing but protected technology to provide broad waste solutions to companies, schools, racetracks and agriculture businesses.
- Sawtooth is providing value by substantially improving the efficiency of rooftop HVAC systems. Instead of managing peak demand as most other vendors in this space do, they are focused on the low demand part of the cycle — which has a lot more benefit than one might expect.
- There are two wind energy companies: Lijiang has a vertical axis turbine that is actually in the final Free Breeze is in rapid growth mode after installing small and community scale wind projects for over ten years.

I hope you'll have a chance to check these companies out. If you're interested in meeting with them directly, Lydia Pastuszek of Conover + Company Communications at lydia@conoverandcompany.com will be happy to facilitate the process. I hate that I won't be there, but I am on a long-planned vacation with virtually no internet access and won't be back in town until June 21.

Best regards,

Linda

If you are going to be at TechConnect, I wanted to encourage you to drop by the Canada Innovates! program on Wednesday.

Hi Eric, sorry to have gotten this email too late to be helpful prior to the conference - I've been without internet access for a week while in Italy (I know, poor me). I'm glad that you're interested in learning more about Hydrostor as I thought they were one of the most interesting companies at the event.

Hi Curt,

I'd like to introduce you to Eric Emmons, an investor with Siemens and one of the sharpest I know. I'll leave it to you two to connect further, although I am also seeing Lydia Pastuszek and Chris Carr so they can help facilitate if you like.

I hope you had a great experience at TechConnect and Canada Innovates!. Please drop me a line and let me know how you're doing when you get a chance.

Best regards,
Linda

Hello Eric, it is a pleasure to meet you. I would welcome an opportunity to share our technology and progress with you. Is there a time that would be convenient for you to have a brief introductory call? I'll send some materials through in advance.

I believe there are many synergies with our storage solution and Siemens (e.g. compressor/expander equipment, automation/control systems, renewable integration, alternative to transmission line upgrades, storage as a tool to enable SmartGrids), and look forward to exploring these with you.

Hi,

Chris Carr asked me to contact you. We have arranged a meeting today between some of the Canadian government agencies and their US counterparts. It is at 11 am today over lunch at the consulate.

She has had a last minute cancellation and was wondering if you or Pat or someone from the CEC would be able to stand in.

It would be very much appreciated I know that Chris is going to try to phone Pat while she is commuting into Boston.

When you get this message, will you please give me a ring? 508 360-5800

Hi Lydia,

Mr. Mariant, President of Mass Energy Lab, would like to meet with GridCo - can we work out an 'on the fly' meeting?

We're planning to be at the conference so perhaps they can meet at the Pavilion or when Yvette and Clive have free time.

Please leave it with you!

Mr., Lydia is coordinating meeting times for the companies - you're in good hands!

Hello Camilo

I am trying to confirm a meeting time with my contact at Gridco - she is probably enroute right now.

The exhibit hall opens tomorrow at 12. I know that you said the morning was better for you than the afternoon. In that case, I would arrange a meeting in the morning - say at 10 - and see if I can get you a meeting room at the Consulate. If not, would you be able to meet with them tomorrow afternoon - say at 1 pm at the Exhibit Hall?

Let me know your preference and I am trying to contact them.

Here is the link on GridCo - they basically have a wireless system to improve the efficiency of rooftop units

What about talking to this company as well - they have a product that reduces friction and increases efficiency -

I'll get back to you with the details on Monday! Thanks very much. I look forward to meeting you!

Camilo -

Very nice to meet you!

Are you based in Boston or Connecticut? Would it make sense to set up a meeting for you before the luncheon on Wednesday if you are driving up from CT?

Please let me know.

Here is a link that describes more about GridCo. I know they have a booth at the exhibit hall at Techconnect, which is at the Hynes which is where the luncheon is as well. You can do a quick on line registration for an exhibit hall pass for free following the instructions below:

We also request that you register for the TechConnect conference directly at <http://www.techconnect.com>. Once you have entered all your information you will see a box for a discount code. Please register for the Expo Hall Only, using discount code "Canada", which will give you free access to the Exposition as well as the Canada Innovates conference. If you are interested in registering for the whole conference, this code will also provide a $100 discount to the full program registration.

Thank you.

Hi Camilo!

Thanks again for joining us next week at the lunch - I think you will find the address by John McDougall of interest! I'm not certain if I sent you the program for the rest of the day, but don't hesitate to join us for the other sessions as well (attached)

I'm hoping you might be able to help one of my Canadian clients, GridCo, who is in town to not only pitch to investors on the afternoon of the 15th, but also to make some new business connections. I'm copying Lydia Pastuszak and Dave Wallace on this email. They are both helping the Consulate set up meetings for our clients, and I thought of you when Lydia mentioned GridCo.

Lydia, grateful if you and Dave could shoot over a short intro to GridCo, and what they would be seeking to accomplish by meeting Camilo Serna. Camilo is Director, Strategy and Business Development for Northeast Utilities, with work in particular around the Smart Grid.

Over to you all and thank you Camilo for any advice you may have, or time you can take to meet with GridCo. Please copy me on the correspondence.

Best wishes,

Chris
